

Tony Gonzalez

Tony Gonzalez, partner in the firm of London & Gonzalez Advocacy based in Sacramento, California, is a legislative and regulatory advocate with 35 years of experience in public policymaking in the California state capitol. He has represented a variety of clients in the human services, technology, financial services, transportation, and environmental services sectors, as well as local governments, first responders, tribal governments, and nonprofit organizations.

Prior to entering the field of policy advocacy in the private sector, Tony served as Deputy Commissioner for Policy, Research and Special Projects for the California Department of Insurance. At the Department, Tony directed the department's initiative in seeking restitution for the families of Holocaust victims whose property and life insurance policies purchased during the Nazi era were unlawfully confiscated by European insurance companies. This initiative ultimately led to the creation of the International Commission on Holocaust Era Insurance Claims. Prior to that he was Policy Staff Director for the California State Assembly Republican Caucus.

Tony is a native of Los Angeles with a passion for California history and completed his graduate and undergraduate work at Claremont Graduate School and Claremont McKenna College. He is a Chair of the Board of Trustees for the California Historical Society, a Director of the Board of the Sickle Cell Disease Foundation.
